- Placing and working with graphics

Graphic Arts Training & Consulting Group webinars are “watch and learn” experiences. GATC will share their screens with you so you can easily see what’s being talked about as well as how to use it. They’ll be glad to take your questions and will answer all of them, either during or after the webinar. GATC staff are also available to help you with individual concerns.

Presented in partnership with:

The presenter...

Veteran GATC trainer Lynn Warner has worked with large and small newspapers through multi-company seminars and company-specific training. She knows the key elements of producing a newspaper. She has provided training to end-users and assisted publishers, designers and editors in hardware and software integration. She has also helped papers convert to digital pagination and digital processes.
